

Dear Commissioners:

My name is Jennifer Witz and I am a senior at Kutztown Institute of Technology / University. I am writing in response to the federal communications institute for the draft (RIT/HID).
I am writing in response to the federal communications commission's responsibilities for communications | telecommunications | full communication for draft, media - on television and display local ones.
of - learning and display local ones.

Dear Commissioners:

My name is Jon-Michael Guillermo and I'm a student at Rochester Institute of Technology.

I am writing in response to the Federal Communications Commission's request for comments on telecommunications for deaf, hard of hearing, and disabled prisoners for prisoners with deaf, hard of hearing, and disabled loved ones.

Today I had an opportunity to use a TTY for the first time since I was in high school. It was harder to use than a computer. I feel that it would be easier for deaf, hard of hearing, and disabled people if they were allowed the access to better communication with their loved ones.

In my experience, telecommunication access using video phone has been the most effective method for me because I can communicate in ASL and it's easier. Equal access to telecommunications for deaf incarcerated people is important because they have rights too. Please ensure that deaf incarcerated people & deaf family members of incarcerated people have equal telecommunication access.

The Commission has the authority to ensure that individuals with disabilities have equal telecommunication access and we are calling upon you to ensure that prison telecommunication is affordable & universally accessible—that fair reaches all, not some.

Sincerely,
Jon-Michael Guillermo

My name is Kathryn McDonald
I am a student at Bexleyheath Institute of Technology/ Bexley Technical Institute for the deaf I want to write to the paper and also I want to you probably wish you wouldn't want to be here so worry, hopefully you learn and hopefully watch do what you allow... just know like in later will eventually get better, just will faith in yourself, people with want to be perfect, it is all there are many opportunity to change your world even if you take a while maybe not just the world, it is also including yourself be better person than you were yesterday, when you are down just remember to smile and have faith in yourself, it is you do better in life, I'm sure you are strong, strong person we'll stay strong, things will get better, learn your mistakes and learn to live by yourself after what you do.

Dec-Hye Lounglin

In early,

Video phones was very easy to reply our service than TTY!
Deaf persons! Deaf people have visual for their own language!
Deaf persons at video phone, and deafs. Better set up video phone for these deafs (deafly) need some time for talk with their family and talk with hearing people. Deaf person need to get formal signs that's all usually true. There was interpreter service for type. It was Deaf people's right for deaf people sign on screen for them TYY because it was very easy for deaf people sign on screen than with my hearing family and friend. Video phone was very better than child. It was very wonderful for get communication and control for my experience! I used TTY and video phone since I was love ones disability persons for practice with deaf, hard of hearing and disabled deaf for communication for deaf, hard of hearing and I am writing in response to the Federal Communications Commission Commissioner for Communications to the Federal Communications Commis-

Deaf.

My name is Dec-Hye Lounglin and I am a second year student at Deaf Institute of Technology/ National Technical Institute for the Deaf, Deafness, Deafness!

Re: In the Matter of Rules for future calling services for Deaf, Hard of Hearing and Disab-

washington, DC 20534
Room TW-B204
445 12th Street, SW
Office of the Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Marlene H. Dartch, Commissioner Secretary

November 21, 2014

My name is Chelsea Schuyler and I am a freshman at Peer Commission's. After Institute of Technology/Albion Technical Institute for the Dept.

I am writing in response to the Federal Communication Commission's request for comments on telecommunications for the deaf, hard of hearing and disabled persons for persons with deaf, hard of hearing and time since I was young. I had hard time to understand what symbols meant, I would rather Video Phones over TTY. Video Phones would make deaf persons communicate easier. If I were there in prison I would have hard time of communicate. I would be depressed if they don't provide what we needs in prison. We can access technical things which we need to communicate and understanding easier. We use up for interpreter to communicate with officer to make us understanding easier.

In my experience I use up for communicate with my hearing family if they don't know my signs. Equal access to telecommunication for incarcerated people is important because they need help.

Chelsea Schuyler

Sincerely,

November 21, 2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Commission Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-B204
Washington, DC 20554

Re: In the Matter of Rates for Interstate Inmate calling Services, WC Docket 12-375, "Inmate calling Services for Deaf, Hard of Hearing & Disabled people"

Dear Commissioners:

My name is Jalon & I'm a student at Rochester Institute of Technology/National Technical Institute for the Deaf. I'm writing in response to the Federal Communications Commission's request for comments on telecommunications for deaf, hard of hearing, and disabled prisoners for prisoners with deaf, hard of hearing and disabled loved ones. I haven't had many experience with TTY, but I will say it's much benefit toward using it. I agree that Deaf should have as much right than any others would have; and I want to say it's okay to be Deaf. To whom ever is reading this, I hope and pray that Right begin to you, I pray that you don't have to struggle to communicate because of the less access you may have. My advice will be to hang in there, yes, it's easy for me to say this because I'm not in your shoe. However, I know the feeling of been denied throughout your whole life. In addition, I believe things will get better for you, for the all of you.

The commission has the authority to ensure that individuals with disabilities and equal telecommunication access and we are calling upon you to ensure that prison telecommunication is affordable and universally accessible - that fair reaches all, not some.

Sincerely,

Jalon